bay-sik-lee, I have an in-trist in all of the dif-rent veg-tuh-bulls that I see when shopping for gross-reez for my fam-lee

Jen: Hey Joe. Do you want to get some lunch? → Hey Joe. Wanna get some lunch?

Joe: Yeah. Where are you going to go? → Yeah. Where yuh gonna go?

Jen: I'm kind of hungry. How about you? → I'm kinda hungry. How bow chu?

Joe: I'm sort of hungry. How about the diner? → I'm sorta hungry. How bout the diner?

Jen: Well, they do give you a lot of food. → Well, they do give you a lotta food.

Joe: The sandwiches are big. I bet you can't eat a whole one. → Betcha can't eat a whole one.

Jen: Come on! I can eat just as much as you. → C'mon. I can eat just as much as you.

Joe: You have got to be kidding. → Yuh godda be kidding.

Jen: I'm telling you. I'm hungry. → I'm tellin yuh. (here is my real opinion) I'm hungry.

Joe: Well, we ought to go then. → Well, we awe-duh go then.

Jen: Let me grab my jacket. → Lemme grab my jacket. "Lemme tell you something"

Joe: Can you give me five minutes? → Can you gimme five minutes? Gimme Shelter

Jen: We do not have much time. → We ain't got much time.

Joe: Oh! I might have left my wallet in my car. → Oh! I mighta left my wallet in my car.

I ain't got no idea / I ain't going = I am not going / he isn't going = he ain't going
